Certified Health Unit Coordinator (C.H.U.C.)

Truly great hospitals have high standards and every member of their healthcare team plays a part in achieving that excellence. Certification allows a way for H.U.C.'s to participate more fully in the pursuit of excellence. Health unit coordinators are professional healthcare workers who perform the non-clinical functions of the nursing unit or department. Other titles include unit secretary, unit clerk, unit communicator, information coordinator, etc.

The National Association of Health Unit Coordinators, Inc. (NAHUC) provides professional standards of practice, education and ethics for unit coordinators. In the ever-changing field of health care, how can we validate we are current? Certification is the answer. For more than 30 years, certification as a health unit coordinator by the NAHUC Certification Board provides proof to employers, other health care professionals and our customers that we have demonstrated the essential knowledge and skills in areas of health unit coordinating. Certification provides evidence that health unit coordinators are qualified and that the facility supports and encourages staff to continuously improve their performance.

Did You Know?...

- The exam is prepared, administered, and graded by a testing agency, PSI Services, and offers year-round electronic testing in most states and provinces. A facility can also opt to proctor the paper and pencil version of the exam onsite.
- It is not necessary to have the title health unit coordinator to sit for the exam. Anyone who is currently a health unit coordinator or has completed training to become a health unit coordinator or anyone who is involved with unit coordinator activities may sit for the exam.
- The first step is to obtain a candidate handbook by visiting the web site at www.nahuc.org or contacting the NAHUC national office via phone or email.
- An outline of the material to be tested, a list of study materials, and sample test questions are included in the candidate handbook. The exam questions are based on the certification exam content outline created from the national job task analysis.
- The NAHUC Education Board offers Certification Exam Study Learning Modules and a Practice Test based on the content outline.
- Certification is granted for three years. To maintain certification status, one must recertify during the third year following initial certification and every three years thereafter.
- Recertification requires an on-going education component of a minimum of 36 hours every three years that shows one is staying abreast of the changes in the industry and actively participating in professional growth and development.

Certified Health Unit Coordinators Know How To...

- Adhere to customer/patient satisfaction service initiatives
- Respect cultural diversity
- Comply with regulatory agency guidelines/rules
- Protect confidentiality and patient rights
- Process admissions, discharges and transfers
- Manage physician orders
- Interpret hospital terminology and abbreviations
- Operate communication equipment and computers
- Identify and correct potential hazards
- Do even more as defined in the exam content outline!
